Accident reconstructionists conduct their investigation into Monday night's fatal crash in the 1500 block of Clifty Drive in Madison where a 22-year-old skateboarder was struck by the patrol vehicle of an off-duty Jefferson County Sheriff's Officer. The highway was shut down for several hours as Madison Fire Department tower trucks were brought in to provide lighting at the scene.

Skateboarder dies in crash involving off-duty deputy

Vevay man, 22, was on Clifty Drive

BY MARK CAMPBELL

Indiana State Police are investigating a fatal traffic crash that occurred in the 1500 block of Clifty Drive on Monday night in which a skateboarder riding on the highway in the dark was struck by an off-duty Jefferson County Sheriff's Deputy in his patrol vehicle.

Hunter Alan Robinson, 22, of Vevay, sustained fatal injuries in the collision and was pronounced dead at the scene by Jefferson County Deputy Coroner Logan Gray.

Based on the initial investigation by Trooper Andrew Garrett and the Indiana State Police-Versailles Crash Reconstruction Team, Robinson was traveling west on Clifty Drive on a skateboard in the roadway when the patrol vehicle, also traveling west and driven by Deputy James T. Webster, 51, of Madison, struck Robinson. Webster was not injured in the accident.

The crash occurred near Rose Street shortly before 10 p.m. Webster was off-duty at the time of the accident but driving his Jefferson County Sheriffs Department-issued 2016 Ford Explorer.

A neighbor who lives near the impact area heard a loud bang from inside his home and went outside to check on what had happened. He said it was already dark at the time of the crash and that the victim appeared to be wearing dark clothes.

The section of Clifty Drive where the accident occurred is five lanes wide — two lanes east and two lanes west with a turn lane in the middle — but there is no sidewalk nor street lamps in the area of the crash. Conditions were so dark that Madison fire trucks were brought in to provide light for the crash investigation.

Madison secures former Ruler Foods site

Deal gives city 3 years to pay off remaining $325K

BY MARK CAMPBELL

Madison's Redevelopment Commission on Tuesday approved a resolution that will secure a piece of property that the Commission and Mayor Bob Courtney think will not only be key to bringing a grocery store back to downtown Madison but also serve as the lynchpin to revitalizing an entire area of the city.

Madison has been in negotiations with K-Q LLC for several months to secure ownership of the former Rulers Foods supermarket and parking lot, 120 East Second Street, as a site for a new independent grocery that could serve as the catalyst for revitalizing East Second and Mulberry streets in conjunction with plans to make upgrades to the city's parking lot on the northeast corner of that intersection.

The project would include a downtown grocery on one corner and include parking and a city park beside the massive Kindness Matters mural that will be painted this summer and serve as a gathering place for local residents and destination for tourists.

Courtney has said Mulberry Street from Main Street to Vaughn Drive is a prime location for redevelopment with a number of empty or under utilized historic structures that could once again house businesses and services and be a center of activity if developed properly. He has said that bringing a grocery back to the former Rulers building on one corner of East Second and Mulberry and upgrading the parking on the other corner will create an atmosphere that will attract the private investment needed to make that vision a reality.

Comedy talent coming to Madison on May 21

They say music soothes the soul (and the savage beast). But laughter nourishes the soul unlike any other human reaction.

CHARLIE ROHLFING
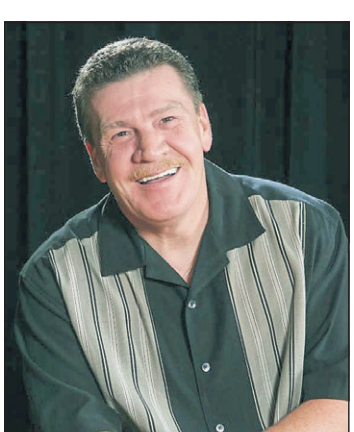
CHARLIE'S BEAT

"Tickets to comedy shows should be covered by people's health insurance," says Tom Sobel, long-time comedy show producer and the driving force behind the comedy night coming to the Red Bicycle Hall on May 21.

"I've seen studies that say laughter actually improves the function of the human immune system," Tom continues, "and that a 30-second belly laugh delivers the same cardiac benefit as a 20-minute cardio workout."



Handout
COMEDIAN MIKE ARMSTRONG

If that last statistic is true, then attending one of Tom's comedy shows should provide the health benefits of running a full marathon. His comedians are top level pros with proven track records on television, stage and radio.

"Our headliner for the Red Bike show, Mike Armstrong, holds the unofficial title of Bob & Tom's Favorite Ex-Cop. Mike has appeared on HBO, Comedy Central, Fox and CNT as well as opening for major musical acts such as Michael Buble, Alan Jackson, Tracy Lawrence and David Allan Coe, Sobel said.

County looks to trim jail plans after bids exceed expectations

BY BOB DEMAREE

The process of determining the final cost of the Jefferson County Sheriff and Justice Center remains ongoing after bids for the project came in higher than expected, owner's representative Jack Krouse told the County Council at its meeting on Tuesday.

Due to current cost increases for home and commercial construction materials, Krouse said the higher-than-expected bids were not a surprise, and they will now look at ways to cut costs before accepting bids for the project.

"We won't take anything out that will hurt or harm the function of the jail, or its security," said Krouse, who said he has already gone through the plans with architects, and will discuss possible cost saving changes with local officials including Commissioner David Bramer and County Sheriff Dave Thomas. "Once there is consensus on those items we'll then be able to validate what the savings are," he said.

Council President Pam Crozier said Wednesday that because the bids received are not final numbers, the Commissioners are not yet releasing that information to the public.

INDOT to chip seal SR 362

BY COURIER STAFF REPORT

Indiana Department of Transportation maintenance crews plan to begin chip seal operations as early as Friday on State Road 362 in Scott and Jefferson counties. Work will take place between State Road 3 and State Road 62 along the Clark County line.

Chip seal operations typically last around three to four days per location depending upon weather. Work is completed under lane closures with flagging to prevent damage to both vehicles and the roadway. During operations, existing pavement is coated with liquid asphalt, which seals cracks and provides waterproof protection. This extends the service life of the roadway and lowers maintenanace costs. Once the seal coat is complete, loose aggregate is applied and swept from the road. After a curing period, crews will return to fog seal the new driving surface and apply pavement markings.

Chip seal is a cost-effective pavement preservation technique that is utilized across the state of Indiana, saving an estimated $6 to $14 in taxpayer expenditures for every dollar invested in extending the life of a roadway.

Motorists should slow down, watch for stopped traffic, and drive distraction-free through all work zones. All work is weather-dependent and schedules are subject to change.

County's COVID-19 status still 'Orange' but getting better

BY BOB DEMAREE

Jefferson County's COVID-19 numbers remain in the "Orange" advisory status — meaning community spread is approaching high levels — but the number of new virus cases is trending better and if that improvement continues the county could be back in the "Yellow" by next week.

"Our metrics are improving," said Jefferson County Health Department Administrator Tammy Monroe, However, she said the county must remain at a lower weekly two-metric score for two consecutive weeks to move into the less severe advisory level.

Over the last two days, there have been just six new positive cases of COVID-19 in Jefferson County — three on Monday and three on Tuesday — and the county's current seven-day average positivity rate is 5.3% while the seven-day positivity for unique individuals is 10.8%.

Overall, there have been a total 3,312 confirmed cases of COVID-19 in Jefferson County with 81 COVID deaths.

Neighboring Switzerland County remains in the "Yellow" advisory status with just two new cases of COVID-19 in the last two days and a total of 791 positve cases overall with eight COVID deaths. However, the county's current seven-day average positivity rate is 9.6% and the seven-day positivity for unique individuals is 28.1%.

As of Wednesday, 11,792 Jefferson County residents are fully vaccinated and 12,244 residents have received at least a first dose of COVID vaccine. Switzerland County has 2,096 fully vaccinated and 2,188 that have received the first dose of a two-dose vaccination series.

Indiana now has had 2,196,206 fully vaccinated individuals including 2,461,137 that have received the first dose of a two-dose series. In Kentucky, 1,915,189 Kentuckians have received at least their first dose of a COVID-19 vaccine with 1,569,598 now fully vaccinated.

The Indiana Department of Health announced Wednesday that 852 additional Hoosiers have been diagnosed with COVID-19 through testing at state and private laboratories. That brings to 731,810 the number of Indiana residents now known to have had the novel coronavirus. To date, 13,028 Hoosiers are confirmed to have died from COVID-19, an increase of 10 from the previous day.

On May 11, the Kentucky Department of Public Health reported 758 new cases of COVID-19. There have been 449,864 positive cases overall and 6,620 deaths including 23 new deaths.

In information from the North Central District Health Department, Trimble County has reported 721 cases of COVID-19 with 12 active cases and overall seven deaths during the pandemic. Carroll County has reported 1,010 cases of COVID-19 with 19 deaths. On Tuesday, Trimble County and Carroll County were each showing the KDPH's current incidence rate map as "Yellow" status. Trimble County has an accelerated spread of COVID-19 with the rate of average daily new cases at 6.7 cases per 100,000 population, based on a seven-day period. Carroll County's rate was 8.1 cases per 100,000 population.

CRASH

The investigation is ongoing and toxicology results are pending. However, drugs and alcohol are not suspected to be factors in the crash, state police said.

Investigators are attempting to locate the operator of a second vehicle that was observed near the scene at the time of the crash. A light colored SUV/crossover vehicle may have been involved or a witness to the crash and state police would like to speak to that driver as part of their investigation. Anyone with information about the crash is urged to contact Garrett at ISP-Versailles at 812-689-5000.

Jefferson County Sheriff Dave Thomas issued a statement Wednesday morning noting that although Webster was not physically injured in the collision, he is "currently on administrative leave to allow investigators to conduct the investigation and for the involved deputy to process the tragic event(s)."

"My heartfelt sympathy goes out to those who have been and will be affected by this tragic incident," Thomas said.

The Indiana State Police was assisted by the Jefferson County Sheriffs Department, Madison Police Department, Hanover Police Department, Jefferson County Communications, Madison Fire Department, King's Daughters' Health EMS, Jefferson County Coroners Office, and Stanley's Wrecker Service.

COMEDY

In addition to Mike Armstrong, the Red Bike Comedy Night will feature Van Gunter and Jake Hovis. "Van is a Detroit guy, and he was a comedy club headliner himself for over 15 years. He retired for awhile and now he's coming back out on the road.

"Our MC host for the night is Jake Hovis, one of the 'big boys' of comedy, standing at 6 feet 8 inches tall, and weighing in at … well, I'll let Jake tell you that. He's a big guy.

"The Red Bike show is presented by the Grote Lamplighters, and it will also function as a fundraiser for that organization. We've done shows with the Lamplighters before in 2017 and 2019 at a different venue, but this is our first time at Red Bicycle Hall. We're really excited about the mid-room stage layout and the intimate atmosphere at The Bike.

"Madison is exactly the kind of small town where we want comedy to flourish. It's such a unique community and we've had such great support here over the years. My goal is for our Comedy Night to become a regular thing, and maybe even expand it to an open mic situation, where new local comics can try their hand.

"I want everyone to understand that this is first class comedy talent we are bringing in, the kind you'd see at any comedy club in any major city. These guys are that good.

"And the good news is, the ticket price is about what you'd pay for a movie and popcorn. But unlike a movie, where you can kind of guess the plot, comedy is so spontaneous and surprising. You never know when the magic will hit.

"And just in case someone wants to bring their grandmother, you should know all our shows are what we call 'cute, clean, and clever'. Never any cuss words or raunchy topics. We hope to see you at the show, and we hope we can make it a regular thing in Madison," Sobel said.

There will be two shows — 7:30 and 9:45 p.m. — and tickets are available through Red Bike's website, www.redbicyclehall.com, $10 advance and $15 at the door with tables reserved for $10 plus admission.

HOT TIP OF THE WEEK

If I was going out this weekend to see live music (and I will be, of course!) I'd be checking out some of the new names appearing on the Calendar. Friday at Lytle Park at lunch time Danny Flanigan is bringing his four-piece band, that should be very cool. Saturday at Mad Paddle there's a band called Cheat'n On Tucker, which deserves a look just for the great band name. And also on Saturday at the Taproom is an act called Noah Smith's Crooner Circus, which best I can tell is a happy band of singers, songwriters and storytellers. Oh, and you'll see me at the Taproom on Friday, too, listening to one of my favorite talents, Jordan Wilson. Get out there people!

Charlie Rohlfing is a retired advertising man and partner in The Red Bicycle Hall music venue. Look for his distinctive fedora bobbing above the crowd, anywhere live local music is happening.

Eblen to retire as Jefferson auditor

Sherry Eblen is shown when she took office in January 2015.

BY BOB DEMAREE

Jefferson County Auditor Sherry Eblen, who will be retiring soon, was recognized at Tuesday's County Council meeting by Council President Pam Crozier who noted it will be Eblen's last meeting in her official capacity.

Council member Ray Black publicly thanked Eblen "for the excellent job that she has done and the service she has given Jefferson County. She's been awesome to work with, and will be missed."

Eblen has served nearly seven years as County Auditor beginning Sept. 5, 2014, after she was elected in a caucus of Republican precinct committee members to complete the term of Celeste Reed, who resigned when she and her husband moved to Phoenix for health reasons.

Eblen said she is in good health and is simply retiring.

"We have a great team that is very knowledgable," said Eblen. "We have a great staff now, and I know I will leave the office in great hands."

Eblen was elected twice as County Auditor, first in 2014 and again in 2018. Overall, she has been employed 16 years in Jefferson County government, working a combined nine years in the Prosecutor's and Auditor's offices before becoming County Auditor.

Prior to that, she had worked as an insurance biller at King's Daughters' Hospital and administrator at Jennings House Assisted Living in Jeffersonville.

She has also owned and operated the Lottie Mae Inn with her husband, Rick.

Crozier said a date must be set for a Republican caucus to choose a successor to serve out Eblen's term. Eblen indicated she will continue to serve as County Auditor until a successor is selected by the caucus.

PET OF THE WEEK

The Madison-Jefferson County Animal Shelter currently has a number of dogs and cats and kittens available for adoption.

Jakko is a black and white pit bull that is 65 pounds of happiness and energy. He loves to run and play and has been working on some basic commands here at the shelter, but will need his training continued in his new furever home. He doesn't do well with cats, but seems fine with other dogs but the shelter always asks for a meet and greet with other dogs before going home.

Rain is a white and brown pit bull that is also about 65 pounds. She came into the shelter with a double ear infection, severe skin irritation and starved. Now she's right as rain and has also been working on basic command training but will need to be continued that in her new home. Rain is very active and loves to play with toys and it is recommend that she be crated in her new home when left alone because when she gets bored she tears things up.

Both dogs have been neutered and vaccinated and their adoption fee is $100. AN adoption application is required before they go to their new homes to ensure they go to the perfect furever home.

The shelter is open by appointment only due to the COVID pandemic.

Appointment days and times are Wednesdays, Thursdays, Fridays from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. and Saturdays and Sundays from noon to 1 p.m. To schedule an appointment please email the shelter at animal.shelter39@jeffersoncounty.in.gov or call 812-273-1788.

To see a full list of pets ready for adoption, visit sisaveapet.com.

The shelter's new adoption policy requires that all animals be spay/neutered and have their rabies vaccination before they can leave the facility.

Animals that haven't been neutered and vaccinated can be pre-adopted but they will remain at the shelter until their surgery is completed. Adoption fees have also changed with dogs set at $100 and cats $80.

JAKKO

Those with missing pets can call or email a complete description of the pet, when and where it was last seen, the owner's name and contact information, and a picture of the pet.

Pets are held for three days before they are made available for adoption. Animals should not be abandoned outside of the shelter or dropped off at the shelter after hours. For animal control issues in Madison, call 812-265-3347. For animal control issues in Hanover and Jefferson County, call 812-265-2648.

Tammy graduated from Hanover College in 1971 with a Bachelor of Arts in Elementary Education and completed her Masters of Education from IUPUI in 1976. Jim and Tammy welcomed their daughter, Sarah Elizabeth, into this world in 1982, and she was a proud mother of her ever since. Tammy's love for and devotion to her daughter, husband, and parents will forever go unrivalled. Tammy always knew she wanted to be an elementary school teacher like her Grandma Ida and Aunt Barbara. She quickly became a cherished pillar at Webb Elementary School in Franklin, retiring after 43 years in 2015. She served as a first or second grade teacher for most of her career, but stepped in to serve as the music teacher during her final three years before retirement. She came alive with music, reliving the years she spent directing plays and musicals at Custer Baker Middle School. She was an active member of the Philanthropic Educational Organization (PEO) Sisterhood and Indiana Retired Teachers Association, and regularly attended Friendship Baptist Church. Tammy had a rich life exploring the beauty of America with her husband and daughter. They traveled from the glaciers to the canyons, from cottages in the mountains to the beaches. They stepped back in time together visiting historic settlements and hiking the serene ancient woods of the Smokey Mountains and other national parks. Tammy was a giver and a blessing to her loved ones. She was a student of God and the arts. She wholeheartedly loved, fiercely advocated, and cooked delicious treats for her family and friends whenever they needed a boost. Her playful smile and bright eyes will forever be with us.

She leaves this world with countless individuals whom she loved and cared for, including her beautiful and cherished daughter, Sarah Elizabeth Green of Indianapolis, her dear father and mother, Ralph and Alta Dunlevy of Indianapolis, her sister, Melinda Dunlevy Martin, her brother-in-law, David Martin of Lebanon, her sister-in-law, Janet Anne Green Washburn, her brother-in-law, Steven Jay Washburn of Greenwood, her nieces and nephews, her cousins, many valued friends and colleagues who loved her dearly, and her faithful dog, Annie. She joins her soulmate, Jim Green, in Heaven.

Visitation will be from 4 - 7 p.m. on Thursday, May 13, at the Friendship Baptist Church, 1600 Westview Drive, Franklin, Indiana 46131. The Reverend Fred Brown will conduct a funeral service at 4:30 p.m. on Friday, May 14, at the Friendship Baptist Church, 1600 Westview Drive, Franklin, Indiana 46131. The family will hold a private burial at the Hanover Cemetery in Hanover, Indiana.

The family requests that live flowers please not be sent due to medical allergens of the family. In lieu of flowers, memorial contributions may be made to the Friendship Baptist Church, 1600 Westview Drive, Franklin, Indiana 46131, or Dolly Parton's Imagination Library dedicated to inspiring a love of reading, like Tammy did, by gifting books free of charge to children https://donate.imaginationlibrary.com/.

Hoping for a passionate love

ANNIE LANE
DEAR ANNIE

Dear Annie: After years of being in an ice-cold marriage for many years, I have finally divorced. I am in my late 60s, active, fit and interested in dating and meeting "the right guy." I have lots of friends and many are single women. I have heard so many stories, some hilarious and some disastrous, of people in my age group dating. One thing that has piqued my curiosity is that many stories include disappointment in the intimacy department. It appears that women my age are more interested and capable than men are in this area of the relationship. Is it true? I am still hopeful that I can find a well-rounded, monogamous, fulfilling relationship — even at this age. Say it isn't true! — Looking for Love

Dear Looking: The bad news is that men tend to experience lower libido as they get older, and erectile dysfunction is also common. This can be due to hormonal changes, medications (including ACE inhibitors), mood disorders or, in the case of erectile dysfunction, cardiovascular trouble. The good news is that it's not inevitable. And men who lead a fit, healthy lifestyle are less likely to have these issues. Get out there and start meeting people, and you may be pleasantly surprised.

Dear Annie: I've known my friend since sixth grade. We talk on the phone a few times a week, and she says that I am her best friend. She and her husband moved to Florida a little over four years ago. Every time she's come back to visit — four times so far — she's not made time to see me. I live 90 minutes away from where she stays and always invite her to come to see me. I even offer to meet halfway to have dinner or lunch, but she says she can't because she has family to see.

When I traveled down to Florida once, this friend kept telling me that I had to come see her. My time was also limited because I also had family to visit, but I extended my vacation two days to see her. I feel like she puts no effort when it comes to seeing me. I feel like a phone buddy. Do you have advice? — Backburner Friend

Dear Backburner: This is a dilemma all transplants face when returning home for visits: how to divvy their time between friends and family without leaving anyone feeling shortchanged. Reiterate to her how much it would mean for her to pay you a visit. If she feels too pressured to spend all her time in that region with family, then plan a girls' trip where the two of you meet in another town for a weekend. Make it a yearly or twice-yearly tradition. And savor the fact that you have such a close friendship.

Memes lost on mom

ANNIE LANE
DEAR ANNIE

Dear Annie: I have an adult son who is married and lives on the East Coast. I follow them on social media to keep up with their lives, as we are in the Midwest. My daughter-in-law often posts disrespectful posts towards my son — memes with rolling eyes, jokes about animals that look like him to her, etc. She is very different from us in terms of her political views and other things. It infuriates and saddens me when she posts these disrespectful posts about my son that I think she believes are funny. I have never addressed it with either of them, but I do want to say something about the disrespect to my son. How should I approach this? I never see any balanced appreciation or complimentary posts from her to him either. — Worried Mom

Dear Worried: What looks like disrespect to you may be affectionate playfulness to her and your son. Internet humor is often irreverent without malice. Consider whether her having different political views might predispose you to take these posts as offensive, and try to let it go. If your son hasn't expressed that he's bothered by it, then there's no reason to let it bother you.

Dear Annie: I am 50 years old with two college degrees and three certifications. I am facing what I believe is a dilemma among women like me who are single.

The friends I knew who are coupled up have treated me like the "background friend" where I'm not included in their activities due to not being a part of a couple. But instead of feeling sorry for myself, I moved on from them.

My question is this: I do occasionally enjoy being social, even though I am an introvert. The trouble is that most activities for adults are not single-friendly. I know we are still working our way out of a major pandemic, but are there some places where I can meet other single adults my age? Keep in mind that I have been fully vaccinated as I am asking this.

In the meantime, how can I combat the loneliness I sometimes feel? Are there any virtual Meetup events? That's what I'm willing to stick with until it's safe to socialize. — Desiring to Move On

Dear Desiring: Meetup.com is a great place to discover new hobbies and friends, and you can indeed still find groups on there who are meeting on Zoom. (Book clubs work well in that format). And, in the longer term, there are plenty of other ways to connect with people in your community. Get involved: Donate your time to a nonprofit (check volunteermatch.org), campaigning for a cause or nourishing your creative spirit with a local arts group or anything else that lights a spark in your heart. There's nothing like the solidarity of working with others toward a project you believe in.

Plan Commission hears proposal for 112-lot subdivision

Developer eyes 44.87-acre tract on Hutchinson Lane

BY BOB DEMAREE

Plans were discussed at Monday night's City of Madison Plan Commission meeting for a proposed 112-lot subdivision on 44.87 acres at 488 West Hutchinson Lane based on an advisory hearing application filed by Barr Development LLC.

Peter Ellis of O'Brien and Ellis Engineering said the proposal calls for developing a subdivision of "small starter homes" and Rick Russell, the owner of the company, "is interested and excited about the opportunity to get housing for younger people on the market."

Before the hearing, the Plan Commission was asked to update the property's zoning because it is zoned heavy manufacturing on the western side of the property and low density residential on the other side. The board unanimously approved re-zoning the heavy manufacturing portion as low density residential clearing the way in at least that hurdle facing the planned development.

Ellis spoke positively of the potential of the property, noting the "city has already designated a bike lane there. There's Cragmont Street that really gives you good connection to the hilltop, and if you really look at the area there, it's really possible to get to a large percentage of the industry in the area without crossing any of the state highways, which I think is really unique, but that's because we're directly adjacent to the industrial park there."

Ruth Shipman, who lives in the nearby Audubon Park subdivision, attended the meeting to ask about details of the subdivision including traffic flow and potential impact on a wooded area.

Ellis said much of the plans are in very preliminary stages and the exact layout of lots is not set or how the development will handle storm water and other issues.

"We're here for an advisory plat, so all of this is subject to change." Ellis said at a later date he will be back to submit construction plans for approval.

Board president Darrell Henderson advised those in attendance that neighboring property owners will be notified at that point and there will be another hearing before a vote is taken on the subdivision.

Ellis also noted there are "significant regulatory hoops that we must jump independent of the Plan Commission" in order to meet state and city guidelines on utilities and obtain proper permits from other regulatory agencies.

There was some conversation about storm drainage and how that might be handled, particularly in terms of child safety is retention ponds are to be used. Board member Karl Eaglin suggested that fencing be placed around detention ponds for safety reasons. Ellis said, another possibility would be to locate storm retention throughout the subdivison instead of one larger, deeper pond. He said that eliminates a more massive hole of water and can even be an attractive feature of the subdivision.

Board member Patrick Thevenow said he agreed that there is "possibility for that pond to double as a utilitarian drainage pond but also provide a nice attractive entry."

Ellis said he appreciated the feedback from the board and the public. "One of the reasons we are here tonight is to get input," he said.

In other business, the Commission:

- Approved combining three lots for construction of a 30-foot pole barn that property owner Warren Watson will use for his own personal storage at 31 South Oak Drive in Hanover.
- Approved setback requirements that will allow a 42-foot-by-16-foot over an existing patio at Diego's Mexican Grill, 2455 Lanier Drive,
- Approved a petition by Chris and Gina Lynn for combining two parcels at 214 West Second Street and 216 West Street for the building of a garage on combined lots.
- Welcomed new Commission members Mike Armstrong and Van Crafton to the board.

JCBT, VMI once again fall short of contract agreement

BY BOB DEMAREE

The Jefferson County Board of Tourism and Visit Madison Inc. continued ongoing contract negotiations at a special JCBT meeting on Monday while once again falling short on reaching an agreement.

However, the 90-minute session did produce hopes that a deal can be achieved by JCBT's regular monthly meeting on May 24.

VMI relies on funding from JCBT for a large part of its annual budget and the amount provided by JCBT has typically been decided prior to the beginning of each calendar year and allocated annually. This year, in the wake of JCBT's significant revenue shortfall from the county's innkeepers tax during the COVID-19 pandemic, the tourism board delayed reaching a deal and instead approved and released smaller amounts of funding for only part of 2021 as VMI made staffing and operational cuts to deal with the shortfall.

The current proposed contract outlines a budget that provides $170,000 for VMI's operations, a cut of about $125,000 from the 2020 budget that had been allocated $295,323. Discussions among JCBT board members suggested funding VMI's marketing on a sliding scale based on a percentage of the revenue JCBT receives from the innkeepers tax. In 2020, JCBT had budgeted $189,000 toward VMI's marketing program.

Board member Trevor Crafton recommended basing the VMI's marketing budget on a percentage of the innkeepers tax noting "we don't like spending money we don't have."

He said when COVID-19 resulted in decreased tourism and a shortfall in the innkeepers tax, it put JCBT in a position that made it challenging to provide the fully budgeted amount to VMI. Crafton suggested a sliding scale for VMI marketing could be based on quarterly receipts "based on what's coming in" from the innkeepers tax.

VMI Board President Lucy Dattilo said VMI has done its part to do as much or more with less by restructuring in an effort to adjust to a tighter budget while still effectively providing marketing for Jefferson County.

"We've been forced to make tough decisions," Dattilo said, noting the board has decreased staff including suspending the executive director's position held by Tawana Thomas since 2017.

JCBT President David Bramer said JCBT also needs to work with the Jefferson County Council on the funding it provides to VMI, something that board member Curtis Chatham said was told to them recently by the State Board of Accounts.

In Monday's deliberations, it was indicated that once a new contract is reached, the agreement would extend through February of 2022.

In other business, the JCBT:

- Voted to transfer money from a $150,000 certificate of deposit in which the daily market value has decreased by $362. Chatham, the JCBT treasurer, said it would be more productive to move the money into a high yield interest savings account rather than having the money tied up for an extended period of time in a CD that is losing value.

Bramer noted the move makes sense with CDs proving to be no better investment strategy than savings accounts.

"There was a time when that made sense but it doesn't now, and it kind of ties our hands" by being there, Bramer said.

"Last year when we were struggling for cash it would have given us operating money," said Chatham, noting there are no penalties or fines for removing the money. "By taking that money out of the CD, we can re-invest it in the community and get more back."

Chatham also reported that $39,000 had been received from innkeepers tax in April and there is currently $22,244.79 in JCBT's checking account and $267,659.79 in a money market account.

COUNTY

David Bramer said the Commissioners had asked Dupont to provide a more competitive rate but have not yet received that offer.

In April, the Jefferson County Jail Building Corporation approved a resolution to authorize borrowing up to $42 million for the new jail.

Andrew Lanam, director of public finance at the Indianapolis office of Stifel Investment Banking, said because the bids came in higher than anticipated "we're probably going to have to borrow more than we originally anticipated but in the end it still comes under the maximum lease rental amount of $2.9 million per year." He also noted that original projections included higher interest rates, but Lanam said "interest rates are extremely attractive right now and we're crossing our fingers and hoping everything holds out long enough for us to get the interest rates locked in."

Council member Gary Copeland asked about possible supply chain issues in receiving necessary materials for the project. Krouse explained that he is already working to anticipate any possible challenges with that. "Everybody has got a supply chain problem these days. The key is to stay in front of it."

Following up on a discussion in February, Crozier proposed a resolution that was adopted unanimously for the county to buy its water for the jail through Madison instead of Dupont because Madison's rate are lower than Dupont and the city already has service to the site.

"I think that is in the best interest for cost savings," Crozier said, noting Madison water is half the cost of going with Dupont and Madison water lines already extend to the property.

Bramer said the Commissioners had asked Dupont to provide a more competitive rate but have not yet received that offer.

"They're working on it. I talked to them last week,"' Bramer said. "We're hoping they will get it to us soon."

He said once that information is provided, deciding on a supplier should be an easy decision, but that Dupont's letter "pretty much threatened if we don't go with them, they are going to file suit."

Council member Chris Shelton said Dupont Water should be provided a cut-off date on negotiations so they can move forward. Bramer said Dupont had been given such a deadline and it was March 18.

"They were given a cut-off date of March 18, and any business I've ever been involved with, they have missed their opportunity," Shelton said.

The Council then unanimously voted in favor of Crozier's resolution that water for the jail be bought from the City of Madison.

In other business:

- Approved $6,800 for a new judge's bench in the third floor courtroom at the courthouse as requested by Jefferson Circuit Court Judge D.J. Mote.

Mote said the new bench would provide greater security because there is currently no protection for the magistrate or judge in that courtroom, and whenever he has hearings in that courtroom he and his staff sit very close to "someone who is very unhappy." He said cases often involve civil protection orders and dissolutions, and other types of emotionally charged cases. "I have people leaning over looking at my notes when I'm hearing cases," he said.

- Approved establishing a contract part-time position in the jail for a person to manage the jail's commissary. Sheriff Thomas said the position will be funded by proceeds from the commissary.
- Approved a $4,655.94 appropriation for security cameras requested by Jefferson County Prosecutor David Sutter, along with approving transfers for the Animal Shelter of $10,000 to veterinary services, $1,728 from Jefferson County Emergency Management for COVID storage at the fairgrounds, and $5,518.98 in Jefferson County Health Department transfers made from the immunization reimbursement grant.

On Tuesday, the city's Redevelopment Commission dipped into the Tax Increment Financing (TIF) funds that it oversees and contributed $200,000 as a down payment on the former grocery site. The city's most recent negotiations to buy the 12,000 square foot building and even larger parking lot, involved getting two independent appraisals and averaging them to see how much the city could legally spend for the property.

The appraisals averaged out to $541,000 and they city then negotiated with K-Q LLC, representing longtime Ruler Foods owner Kroger Company, before finally reaching a sales price of $525,000. The terms are $200,000 down with the seller agreeing to finance the remaining $325,000 of the purchase price over three years at an annual interest rate of 1%.

"It's a big step but it's a necessary step," said Courtney noting the city's best opportunity to attract a new grocer downtown — a top request by residents in every local survey — was to control that property because it is the only site in downtown Madison that is both large enough and suitably located for a grocery.

Courtney said the city has been involved in negotiations with up to three potential independent grocery tenants for the space but nothing is yet definitive.

"This building has value to the city beyond a grocery store but that is still our No. 1 priority," Courtney said. "It's now going to be our property to use however we want to use it."

He said the site is the "most attractive location" in the city in terms of square footage and on-site parking. Prior to zeroing in on the former Rulers site, the city considered three total sites but the combination of retail and storage space and parking at 120 East Second far outweighed the other two sites and that the impact the project can have on revitalizing that area of the city and attracting additional private capital will far exceed the purchase cost.

"The City of Madison Redevelopment Commission continues to support our strategy of acquiring strategic assets across the city that will promote blight elimination, gateway improvements, tourism, revitalization and economic development efforts. All of these investments will attract private capital that will further enhance the city." said Courtney.

Rebels' Foley wraps stellar career by signing with Mount

BY DAVID CAMPBELL

Ellie Foley was off to a spectacular start through two games in her sophomore season at Southwestern High School. But late in a blowout win in just her second game, she came down awkwardly, tearing her ACL and ending her season.

But rather than allow herself to get down, Foley instead took the injury as a challenge. She returned for her junior season ready to go and led Southwestern in scoring each of the last two years.

"There was something in her that kind of shifted and she wasn't going to let that injury hold her back. She got serious about wanting to get in better physical shape and she did. That's a credit to her," Southwestern girls basketball coach Devin Brierly said. "When you have a significant injury like that it can go one of two ways and she turned it into something that not a lot of other people could have done."

That drive that brought Foley back to the floor also landed her in college and on Monday, the Lady Rebel star officially signed to play basketball at Mount St. Joseph University in Cincinnati.

For Foley, the signing is a dream come true and the culmination of a high school career that had more ups than that one big down.

"In eighth grade, I hurt my other knee and as a freshman, I just played timid. And after my freshman year, I was just like 'why did I do that?' " Foley said. "After it happened again my sophomore year, I decided that if it happened again, I would just quit, so why not just give it my all? That was my mindset going into my junior year and luckily nothing happened, which I'm very thankful for."

Foley averaged 12.9 points per game her senior year and made all-Ohio River Valley Conference honors in both her junior and senior years. When she began looking around for a college, she wanted to find one in which she could not only play, but that also offered her preferred major, nursing.

As it turned out, Foley actually found her school thanks to one of Mount's top rivals, Hanover coach John Jones. Jones was hoping to keep the Rebel star at home but Hanover doesn't offer nursing. Rather than let Foly twist in the wind, Jones called Mount coach Dan Benjamin to tip him as to her availability. Once Foley stepped foot on campus, she was hooked.

"I got there and honestly it felt like home," Foley said. "You can see the river from campus, and it's just beautiful. I met the players and coaches and just loved it."

Her connection to Hanover will have an added significance when the Lions face the Panthers next year.

"I think it will be wild when we play them, especially knowing that coach Jones wanted me to play there and I couldn't because of the nursing," Foley said. "But I know a lot of the girls at Hanover and it will be special coming back and playing, especially in my hometown. It'll be fun."

Brierly, who played college basketball and softball at Butler and coached a few years ago at Hanover, said Foley has what it takes to be successful at the next level.

"I think Mount St. Joe is a great fit for her. Knowing the league, I think she can make a significant impact if she gets there and works and does what she can do on the floor," Brierly said.

Southwestern's Ellie Foley has signed to play college basketball at Mount St. Joseph University in Cincinnati.

Shawe's Weston overcomes injury for chance to run at Hanover

BY DAVID CAMPBELL

Whether running for Trimble County or for Shawe high schools, Eliza Weston has proven herself to be one of the best runners in the area in recent years. And now, Weston will get a chance to prove herself at the collegiate level.

Weston officially signed to run both cross country and track & field at Hanover College on Monday. For the Shawe senior, the signing was the result of a long road of hard work and dedication to a sport she loves.

"I broke my ankle my freshman year in cross country and that was a big step back, but ever since then, I have held track from start to finish and I'm about back to where I was before my freshman year," Weston said. "So that's encouraging and this has been exciting."

Weston broke into the running scene as an eighth grader at Trimble when she placed eighth overall in the Class 1A State Finals. While the ankle injury as a freshman set her back, she remained one of the Raiders' top runners and finished 44th at the state finals as a junior.

She transferred to Shawe this past school year and wasn't sure if she was going to get a chance to run. She wasn't officially cleared to run until the season was almost over, but she made the most of her time left, placing third in the Ohio River Valley Conference championships and third at the IHSAA Sectional. Her season came to an end with a 32nd-place finish in the regional.

Shawe's Eliza Weston has signed to run cross country and track & field at Hanover College.

Weston was just glad to get a chance to get on the course and relished every chance she had to compete.

"The late start was a little bit different and I didn't think I'd get a chance to run this year, but I pushed through and was able to run a few races which is better than none," Weston said.

Madison scores 2 in the 7th to beat Jennings in HHC opener

BY COURIER STAFF REPORT

Keegan Clement's two-run single in the top of the seventh proved to be the difference as Madison knocked off Jennings County 2-0 in the opening round of the Hoosier Hills Conference baseball tournament Monday in North Vernon.

The Cubs were held to just two hits through six innings when they rallied for the win. Ben Orrill and Zach Forner each singled to open the frame but were still stuck there two outs later. Luke McCarty reached on an error to keep the inning alive and Clement drove in both runs with a single to center.

Drew Forner, who went the distance on the mound, hit a batter in the bottom of the seventh but struck out two batters to slam the door on the win for the Cubs. Forner (4-2) struck out four and did not walk a batter while tossing the two-hit shutout. He also had a double at the plate.

Orrill was 2-for-3 to lead Madison.

Madison, now 16-6 on the season, advanced to the conference semifinals to travel to Jeffersonville on Wednesday. The Cubs will then host either the HHC championship or the third-place game on Friday.

Baffert in spotlight for wrong reasons

BY STEPHEN WHYNO
ASSOCIATED PRESS

BALTIMORE — Even though Bob Baffert isn't at Pimlico Race Course this week, his shadow hangs over the Preakness, the Triple Crown and horse racing.

This should have been another celebration of Baffert, the face of the sport with two Triple Crown triumphs on his resume, coming off an upset win at the Kentucky Derby and looking for a record eighth Preakness victory. Instead, Derby winner Medina Spirit failing a postrace drug test for the steroid betamethasone has put Baffert and the sport in the spotlight for all the wrong reasons.

"The whole atmosphere here has changed," rival trainer and friend D. Wayne Lukas said Wednesday. "The enthusiasm, the feel of excitement is not here. That's what's bad for the industry right there."

Lukas tried to talk Baffert into traveling to Baltimore for the Preakness to saddle Medina Spirit and Concert Tour. Instead, Baffert's horses are under the watchful eye of assistant trainer Jimmy Barnes and Maryland Racing Commission officials who set conditions for additional testing and monitoring for them to be allowed to run Saturday.

If three rounds of testing come back clean, Medina Spirit will likely be favored in the Preakness and, if successful, would be two-thirds of the way to Baffert's third Triple Crown in six years — albeit with a giant asterisk.

"It certainly has altered the dynamic of the Preakness considerably," NBC Sports analyst Randy Moss said. "It's gone from a warm and fuzzy, feel-good story about a tenacious $1,000 yearling who somehow defied the odds to win the Kentucky Derby into the depths of where no one in horse racing likes to see it go."

Rather than Baffert holding court outside the stakes barn at Pimlico in his trademark sunglasses and chatting with Lukas, it was Barnes tersely ending a short interview session after "no comment" replies when asked about his boss's mindset and whether Medina Spirit was still being treated for a skin condition, which caused the horse to be given an antifungal ointment that Baffert said Tuesday was a possible source of the steroid.

WNBA tips off 25th anniversary season

BY DOUG FEINBERG
AP BASKETBALL WRITER

NEW YORK — The WNBA will tip off its 25th season on Friday after an eventful offseason that was full of player movement, including Candace Parker returning home to Chicago.

The former league MVP headed home after playing her entire 13-year career in Los Angeles since being drafted by the Sparks in 2008.

"I'm so excited to be home and I say that from the bottom of my heart," Parker said. "I didn't realize how amazing the Chicagoland area was with basketball in general until I went out in the world and I saw how truly special and how they really embrace their homegrown talent."

The 12 teams were also heading home this season after playing last year in a bubble in Florida because of the coronavirus pandemic. While attendance will be limited, teams will play in their home markets.

"We're working with the players' association and teams to create a plan to safely conduct our season amid this pandemic," WNBA Commissioner Cathy Engelbert said. "We're excited about the ability to return to our home markets, so we'll be in our 12 arenas. But we know we need to stay vigilant to minimize risk as much as possible."

The defending champion Seattle Storm, led by Sue Bird and Breanna Stewart, won't be playing at their home arena, which is undergoing renovations this summer, instead competing at the Angel of the Winds Arena in Everett, Washington. The Storm played seven games there in 2019, going 6-1.

They'll open their season on Saturday in a Finals rematch against the Las Vegas Aces.

The Aces also made a huge move in the offseason signing free agent point guard Chelsea Gray. Reigning league MVP A'ja Wilson will be the only starter returning from last season's Finals run. Liz Cambage is back after being medically excused from last season because of the COVID-19 pandemic. Kelsey Plum is healthy after tearing her Achilles tendon before the start of last season.

Las Vegas did lose Angel McCoughtry for the season this week after she tore her right ACL. The Aces also saw guard Kayla McBride sign with Minnesota. The Lynx also picked up Natalie Achonwa and Aerial Powers in other key offseason moves.

Here are other things to look for in the league's 25th season.

NEW OWNERS

It was also a busy offseason with two teams sold to new ownership groups. Former Atlanta Dream guard Renee Montgomery made history as part of a three-member investor group that was approved to purchase the team.

The ownership change follows pressure on former Sen. Kelly Loeffler, a Republican who angered WNBA players with her opposition to the league's racial justice initiatives, to sell her share of the Dream. The Las Vegas Aces were also sold to Raiders owner Mark Davis from MGM International.

SOCIAL JUSTICE

The league also plans to continue to support the WNBA Justice Movement. It's the platform through which the league will continue to lead important work in the community to combat racial and gender inequality, promote advocacy for LBGTQ+ rights, and champion reform in systems where injustice persists.

"It's one of the important things I know to the players," Engelbert said of the social justice movement. "We talk to them all the time about not being one and done around social justice. Continuing the social justice efforts and integrating that in with the campaign and to lead important work with the community."

COMMISSIONER'S CUP

The league will also debut the WNBA Commissioner's Cup. Teams will play 10 designated regular-season matchups before the Olympic break that will count towards standings for that contest. The top team by record in those games in each conference will play each other in a championship game right after the break ends. There will be player prize pools.

CHANGING IT UP

Both Dallas and Atlanta will have new coaches at the helm with Vickie Johnson taking over the Wings and Mike Petersen in charge of the Dream. Johnson was hired in December while Petersen was named the interim coach when Nicki Collen left for Baylor earlier this month.

HAPPY ANNIVERSARY

The WNBA will unveil over the course of the season the league's 25 greatest moments, 25 game-changing players and other things to commemorate its 25th anniversary.

Brady-Prescott kicks off NFL season plus a return to London

BY ROB MAADDI
AP PRO FOOTBALL WRITER

The NFL is returning to London in October and Tom Brady begins his pursuit of an eighth Super Bowl title against Dak Prescott and the Dallas Cowboys when Tampa Bay hosts the league's annual kickoff game on Sept. 9.

The first game in London since the coronavirus pandemic will be played on Oct. 10 as the Atlanta Falcons face the New York Jets. A week later, the Jacksonville Jaguars meet the Miami Dolphins. Both games will be played at the stadium of Premier League soccer team Tottenham. The Falcons and the Jaguars will be the home teams.

The season opens on the same field where the Buccaneers became the first team to win a Super Bowl at home. Other highlights from opening weekend include Matthew Stafford playing his first game for the Los Angeles Rams on Sunday night against the Chicago Bears with SoFi Stadium welcoming fans for the first time.

Most teams are expected to be at full capacity following a season played before limited crowds because of COVID-19.

Reigning AFC champion Kansas City hosts the Cleveland Browns in a playoff rematch in Week 1. The Chiefs eliminated the Browns in the divisional round last season despite losing Patrick Mahomes to a concussion.

Two other matchups feature playoff teams facing off in their first game. The Pittsburgh Steelers, who lost to Cleveland in the wild-card round, visit the Buffalo Bills, who reached the AFC title game.

Carson Wentz and the Indianapolis Colts host Russell Wilson and the Seattle Seahawks. In Philadelphia, Wentz was 0-4 against Wilson.

Plenty of others, however, want to talk about the medication violation, Baffert's fifth in a little over a year.

Activist Marty Irby of Animal Wellness Action said, "Baffert should be extraordinarily alert to all substances that go into horses under his control" and recommended a zero-tolerance policy for drugging violations.

While this is not intentional doping with performance-enhancing drugs like the charges facing indicted trainers Jason Servis and Jorge Navarro, it's another blotch on Baffert's record that in a best-case scenario shows his barn doesn't pay close enough attention to the medications being given to top-notch racehorses.

"The fact that he didn't know and he didn't mean for it to be in the horse, that doesn't change for an instant the fact that it was in the horse," said Dr. Mary Scollay, executive director of the Racing Medication & Testing Consortium. "The fact that he didn't mean to break the rule doesn't mean that he didn't break a rule."

Betamethasone, a therapeutic drug that can help horses' joints, was also found in Baffert's 2020 Kentucky Oaks-winning filly Gamine, who along with colt Charlatan tested positive for the painkiller lidocaine last year in Arkansas. Another Baffert-trained horse, Merneith, tested positive for a cough suppressant after racing July 25 at Del Mar in California.

Baffert in November vowed to "do better," hiring a veterinarian for extra oversight and saying, "I intend to do everything possible to ensure I receive no further medication complaints."

Then one happened on horse racing's biggest stage.

"Somehow, here we are again," Moss said. "A lot of people in racing are sort of scratching their heads as to why this would repeatedly happen to one guy."

Lukas said Baffert has "been hit with some circumstances that are uncontrollable." While Irby and others point to the Horse Racing Integrity and Safety Act that goes into effect in July 2022 as an opportunity to better police drugs in horses, the 85-year-old Hall of Fame trainer thinks it should raise the threshold "to what's realistic" for therapeutic medications above the 21 picograms Medina Spirit tested positive for.

Baffert has repeatedly emphasized that a picogram is a trillionth of one gram to explain how little of the substance was discovered in the test, saying, "Horse racing must address its regulatory problem when it comes to substances which can innocuously find their way into a horse's system at the picogram level."

Regardless of the amount, Medina Spirit will be disqualified from the Kentucky Derby if a second test also comes back positive. And if anything shows up in Maryland's additional testing, Medina Spirit will be scratched from the Preakness.

None of it is what Baffert and those in horse racing want to be worried about at the time of year when the sport gets the most attention. Perhaps that's why Lukas wishes he was still on the Kentucky Horse Racing Commission that will decide the fate of Baffert and his latest champion.

"I would absolutely today tell my colleagues that we need to just dismiss this, throw it out, put the Derby winner back on the throne and move on," he said. "You almost think the lab should probably have poured it down the sink in the first place."

HHC

Jordan DeAtley (5-1) went the distance on the mound and picked up the win, allowing two earned runs on five hits with eight strikeouts and two walks.

Southwestern, now 15-5 overall and 6-2 in the Ohio River Valley Conference, heads to South Ripley on Friday and hosts Milan on Monday.

Shawe, now 3-11 overall and 0-8 in the ORVC, traveled to New Washington on Wednesday and hosts Rising Sun on Friday and Switzerland County on Saturday. The Hilltoppers head to South Ripley next Wednesday.

CARROLL ROLLS OVER EMINENCE

David Smith and Landon Isaacs each drove in four runs and Dhane Montgomery hit his first home run of the season to lead Carroll County to a 13-1 win over Eminence in baseball Tuesday on the road.

Smith had two hits and scored three times to go along with four RBIs while Isaacs had a double. Marky Perkinson was 2-for-3 with a double and two runs scored and Kayne Scruggs had two hits and scored a run.

David Campbell

Madison's Drew Forner tossed a 2-hit shutout and had a double in the Cubs' 2-0 win over Jennings County in the Hoosier Hills Conference Baseball Tournament on Monday.

Isaacs (5-0) allowed just two hits and no earned runs in five innings to pick up the win on the mound. He also struck out five and walked two.

Carroll improves to 10-8 overall on the season, 7-3 in the North Central Kentucky Conference and 6-2 in 31st District play. Carroll hosts Eminence today to wrap up the two teams' mini two-game series and will travel to Ludlow on Monday.

SWITZERLAND FALLS AT MILAN

Switzerland County baseball dropped a close 6-4 decision at Milan on Monday.

Dakota Wallace had two hits and scored a run for the Pacers, Ben Hicks had a hit and drove in three runs and Zach Stout had a hit and an RBI.

Drew Chatham (0-5) took the loss after allowing five earned runs in six innings.

Switzerland, now 1-12 overall and 2-6 in the Ohio River Valley Conference, traveled to Rising Sun on Wednesday and heads to Shawe on Saturday.

TRIMBLE LOSES TO SPENCER

Trimble County baseball lost 13-4 at home to Spencer County on Tuesday.

The Raiders were held to just five hits in the game. Dalton Penick had a triple and scored a run, Dylan Jennings and J.T. Wilcoxson each had a hit and an RBI, Cameron Blackaby and Spencer Stark each had a hit and Brayden Wilson had two RBIs.

Penick (3-3) took the loss after allowing three earned runs on seven hits in five and two-thirds innings. He struck out nine and walked eight.

Trimble, now 5-12 on the season, was scheduled to travel to Owen County today but that game has been moved to Saturday at 10 a.m. in Bedford. The Raiders then travel to Gallatin County on Monday.

WESTON

Heading to Hanover next season was a no-brainer for Weston, who has followed the school and the program for several years. She's excited to join one of the top programs in the Heartland Collegiate Athletic Conference.

"It's really good for my intended major and being able to run in college is something that I've always wanted to do," Weston said. "I've known their coach for the last couple of years and he's always talked to me and he's been recruiting me and calling me every two weeks. I think that communication really stood out from other colleges."

Weston plans to major in pre-med and Hanover fits that perfectly.

"Hanover has a really cool cadaver lab and a lot of research opportunities and an internship through IU medical which I was also accepted to," Weston said. "That's an insane opportunity that will allow me to do research projects every year after my freshman year. I'm excited."

Weston is currently wrapping up her senior season at Shawe and placed third in the 1600-meter run at the Ohio River Valley championships on Tuesday. The sectional will be next week at Madison.
